History of the Mormons in Verse

1- King, Hannah Tapfield. An Epic Poem: A Synopsis of the Rise of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, from the birth of the Prophet Joseph Smith to the arrival on the spot which the Prophet Brigham Young pronounced to be the site of the future Salt Lake City, Utah. Salt Lake City: Published at the Juvenile Instructor Office, 1884. First Edition. 62pp. Sextodecimo [19 cm] Green cloth with blind stamped floral borders to the boards and the title gilt stamped on the front board. Better than very good. Gift inscription on the front free endsheet from the year of publication. Rear free endsheet contains an additional inscription from the year of publication from the inscriber. Both are heartfelt and charming.

"Now from their homes the Saints were forced to move, and leave Nauvoo, the City which they Love! Their Prophet and Patriarch were slain, And in that place they could not now remain; Unto the Rocky Mountains eyes were turned, And hearts with hope and expectation burned; Joseph had named it as a place of rest For Saints to flee to, where they should be blest; Away from Gentile rule and Gentile rod - And Joseph's word was as the voice of God. To all that people - Brigham at their head, By Joseph's word were all the people led." - p. 46

Uncommon work of Mormon poetry Flake/Draper 4625.

Governor Ford's History of the Mormon in Nauvoo

2- Ford, Thomas. A History of Illinois, from its Commencement as a State in 1818 to 1847. Containing a Full Account of the Black Hawk War, the Rise Progress, and Fall of Mormonism, the Alton and Lovejoy Riots, and Other Important and Interesting Events. Chicago: S.C. Griggs & Co., 1854. First Edition. 447+[6]pp. Octavo [21 cm] Brown blind stamped cloth with the title gilt on the backstrip. Very good. Backstrip is faded. Gentle foxing throughout.

"Important source book written by one who was active in the affairs of the state from its beginnings." - Eberstadt. "The History was written during the months from January, 1846, to April 12, 1847. Unable to secure a publisher, Ford, in dying condition in 1850, placed the manuscript in the hands of General James Shields, expressing the hope that sale of the book would provide for something for his orphaned children." - Byrd. Flake/Draper 3397. Howes F254. Byrd 2105. Eberstadt 105:138. Auerbach 444. Sabin 25070. Chicago 91.

Old Faithful Inn

4- Haynes, Jack Ellis. 38432 - C. Old Faithful Inn & Bus, Y.N.P. [St. Paul, MN]: Haynes Picture Shops, [1938]. Black and white photograph [9 cm x 11.5 cm] printed on a white stock [9.5 cm x 12 cm] Haynes number and title printed on the reverse. Image has strong contrasts. Fine.

Detailed Mining Map of Leadville

9- Saunders, Charles F. The Leadville Mining District. Compiled from Official records and Other Reliable Sources.

Denver, CO: Denver Litho Co, January, 1901. Color lithograph map [97 cm x 78] on a linen backed sheet [102 cm x 81 cm]. Very good with minor overall wear more so at extremities. Colors are bright.

"Built on a dreary hill, surrounded by threatening mountains and buffeted by fierce snowstorms, Leadville is an ominous place, stark and cold. But hidden beneath the grime and bilious paint encrusted on the buildings like a patina are the remains of the wildest, gaudiest, most raucous mining camp in Colorado, the most glamorous, glittering silver town in the West. From the time silver was discovered in Leadville in 1875 until the collapse of the silver market in 1893, Leadville fascinated the world with its instant millionaires and villainous ways. It was known as both the wickedest city in the world and the most progressive mining town in Christendom." - p.118 'Colorado Ghost Towns and Mining Camps.'

A Love Letter in Song to Castle Dale and Emery County

10- Johnson, Rolla V. Where the Sunset Tints the Castles on the Hills. Huntington, UT: R.V. Johnson, 1917. Single sheet [36 cm x 53 cm] printed in black ink. Minor wear to extremities with a few small chips and closed tears.

Self-published musical love letter to Castle Country by the recently returned Missionary, Rolla V. Johnson (1889-1971,) who at the time would have been 27 years old. We are unable to locate any institutional holdings for this work.

"Oh the land that poets sing of, where the maples shade the lane, and the many colored grasses paint the lea. Where the youthful lovers wander thru the fields of waving grain, Near the little vine clad cottage by the sea. Cannot dearer be to any heart than the sage clad hills of clay, Where the meadow lark his springtime message tells When the sunlight of the morning is awakening the day, And with gold bedecks the castles on the hills.

(CHORUS) In dear old Castle Valley, with its cottonwoods and sage And the crystal water flowing in the rills; Where the pinion pine and cedar make a garland for each ledge, And the sunset tints the castles on the hills.

Far beneath the castles golden, near the rivers winding way, Where the canyon breezes breath the mountain air. Is the home of happy boyhood where with schoolmates I did play, And at mothers knee I learned my infant prayer. As life's sunsets drawing nearer and old age creeps slowly on, Let them choose the peaceful willows those will But one request I'm leaving let me sleep when life is done, in the shadows of castle on the hills.

(CHORUS) In dear old Castle Valley, with its cottonwoods and sage And the crystal water flowing in the rills; Where the pinion pine and cedar make a garland for each ledge, And the sunset tints the castles on the hills."

Fictionalized Mountain Meadows in Jacket

12- Birney, Hoffman. Zealots of Zion. Philadelphia: Penn Publishing Company, 1931. First Edition. 317pp. Octavo [21 cm] Red cloth with the title stamped in black on the front board and backstrip. Very good/Very good. Minor damp stain to fore edge of front board. Jacket price clipped. Illustrated with maps, photographs and drawings.

Nicer than usually seen jacket of this work that is a fictionalized account of the Mountain Meadows Massacre.

"The author writes a biography of the humble men and women among the Latter-Day Saints who suffered and endured so that cities might grow where before was only the Great American Desert. This with the astonishing result that Brigham Young and the recognized leaders of the Mormon Church are virtually ignored. The story of the Mountain Meadows Massacre is told without prejudice. From the actual records of the Church Mr. Birney has extracted the grim truth of the most terrible atrocity in the history of America. The book will stand as a monument of incredible research and a valuable contribution to Americana." - from the jacket

Soul on Nice

13- Sturlaugson, Mary Frances. A Soul So Rebellious. Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Company, 1981. Sixth printing. 88pp. Octavo [24 cm] Pictorial green cloth with the title in white on the backstrip. Near fine/Near fine.

Inscribed with two cards from the author. First published work by the pioneering Mormon, who was the first female African American to serve a full-time LDS Mission after the Priesthood ban was lifted. In this book the author recounts her conversion to the Mormon faith.

Warmly inscribed by the author on the front flyleaf: "Darrell & 'Mom', Thank you very much for the love you have shown me. You will never truly know how much I have appreciated you and your heartwarming love, 'Thank-you' seems like so little to say to two people that's enriched my life so deeply, but please know that those two words come from the heart, filled with much love and gratitude. May the Lord's Choicest blessings be yours. With love, Mary Sturlaugson Eyer."

Additionally, there are two Christmas cards laid in, each containing lengthy notes from the author.

- One has a photograph of the author and her daughter, and on the reverse is a manuscript note: "Dear Darrell, This card comes a few months late but please know that thoughts of you have been constant. It was indeed good to talk to you again. Sounds like life has been good to you! Thank you for the invitation to stay in your home, your offer is most graciously accepted but please know that I'll understand if you change your mind due to other plans you might have. We plan to come out March 28th. Again thank you for your kindness. Sincerely, Mary + Tai."

- The other carries an image of Garfield the cat, and the following note: "Darrell & 'Mom' Thank you very much for all you have done for me. May this little token of appreciation somewhat help you to know how grateful I am for both of you. You're truly wonderful!! May this Christmas be one filled with much love, happiness and peace! Love May & John."
