2- [San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad]. Legends of the Arrowhead. Los Angeles: (c.1911). [26]pp. Duodecimo [18 cm] Tan illustrated wrappers. Better than very good.

Short work produced for William Andrews Clark's 'San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad', popularly known as the 'Salt Lake Route' which ran from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles across a mostly uninhabited Mohave and through the then small outpost of Las Vegas in Clark County, which is named for W.A. Clark. This work recounts the different legends associated with the Arrowhead formation above San Bernardino: Coahuia, Guachina, Mormon and Dr. Smith's Story.

"The wonderfully formed symbol, so distinctive a feature of the locality, is plainly visible from all the trains of the Salt Lake Route. This fact induced the management of the road to select this unique emblem as the official sign of the system, and the simple Indian arrowhead is now adopted and recognized as the identifying mark of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad." - p.[6]. SERVANTS

We care a very great deal about what the people of this community think and say about us. We want them to know that we are their servants, that we are in business to satisfy their utility wants, and to please them. We want to give Service, first last and all the time. That is the policy which underlies our whole activities.

PETALUMA AND SANTA ROSA RAILROAD COMPANY

FRIENDS

We make no secret of the fact that we are trying to hold the good will of the public.

We must have the good will of the people we serve if we are going to make this a successful public utility.

And by successful we mean successful, not only in pleasing our patrons, but also as a commercial institution, dependent for its livelihood upon the sale of the products it manufactures, which products in our case are miles of Petaluma and Santa Rosa Railroad Co. transportation, both passenger and freight.

HOTELS AND RESORTS IN COLORADO

RATES QUOTED HEREIN ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE

The Union Pacific System in furnishing this list of hotel rates and other information, which is the latest obtainable, assumes no responsibility as to its correctness.

In Denver, the gateway to Colorado's Mountain Playgrounds, there are 252 hotels in the business district accommodating 50,000 people daily; also more than 700 boarding houses and private homes where good accommodations can be secured, giving a range of price and location to suit every purse and every taste. The Denver Tourist Bureau at the Union Station will help you to find just what you desire and at the price you wish to pay if you will call there upon your arrival in Denver. The main office of the Tourist Bureau, 505 17th Street, will also give you this service.

There are hundreds of cottages and rustic cabins in the Colorado mountains, some in connection with hotels and some furnished for light housekeeping. These are in every part of the state, in the National Parks, along streams stocked with fish, at the base and along the sides of canyons and peaks. The Tourist Bureau also endeavors to put visitors in touch with those in charge of these cottages and cabins, and lists of cottage owners will be sent upon request.
