1- McBeth, Kate C. The Nez Perces Since Lewis and Clark. New York: Fleming H. Revell Company, 1908. First Edition. 272pp. Octavo [21 cm] Green cloth with the title gilt stamped on the front board. Very good.

Inscribed by the author on the front free endsheet: "Mrs. E.F. Samuels - from - K.C. McBeth - Lapwai, Id. Feb. 20th 1913."

Interesting firsthand account of the Nez Perce people by Kate Christine McBeth (1832-1915) who was a Presbyterian missionary and educator, who along with her sister, Sue, worked with the Nez Perce out of the Lapwai Mission in Idaho. Here they provided literacy education for Nez Percé women, instituted and directed the Sabbath School and Mission Society, taught Euromerican domestic skills. Following the death of Sue in 1893, Kate, assumed responsibility for training Native American ministers.

"An authoritative work. The author worked as a teacher among the Nez Perces for twenty-seven years, coming to the Lapwai Mission in 1873, following the death of H.H. Spaulding." - Eberstadt 115: 663.

2- Nettleton, Helen. Sketches of Owyhee County. Murphy, ID: Owyhee County Historical Society, 2006. Second Printing. 283pp. Octavo [23.5 cm] Dark green cloth with the title gilt stamped on the front board and backstrip. Near fine/Near fine. Name in ink on the front free endsheet.

History of this rugged and rural and sparsely populated county in southeast Idaho, that has been home for millennia to the Western Shoshoni, Northern Paiute and Bannack and to others who flocked to the area early in the late 19th century, lured by the discovery of gold. Illustrated with black and white views.

3- Driggs, Benjamin Woodbury. History of Teton Valley, Idaho. Caldwell: The Caxton Printers, Ltd., 1926. First Edition. 227pp. Octavo [23.5 cm] Gray grained boards with the title gilt on the front board and backstrip. About very good. Rear hinge nicked at the head and foot. Bookplate remnants on the front pastedown.

Nice early history of the southeastern section of Idaho. Includes material on the Mormon colonies around Teton Creek, outlaws in the region, cattle razing and the cattle industry, and much on the fur trade and mountain men - which was very active in the middle part (and earlier) of the nineteenth century. Illustrated with black and white photographs. Flake/Draper 3010. Six-Guns 635. Herd 725.

"Idaho, rich in historical lore, perhaps offers no finer material for the historian's pen than can be found in the southeastern section of the state. The history of the Teton Basin, written by a pioneer resident of that rich and beautiful Valley, will add a valuable chapter to Idaho history. It is a story gleaned from early settlers, still living, but who will soon pass on. Containing facts of the first trail-blazers, early trappers, the discovery of Teton Pass, thrilling battles between trappers and Indians, this history will be found of extreme interest to every section of Idaho." - [5]

5- [Idaho]. Boise Labor Day Parade. [Boise, ID]: [1903]. Silver gelatin photograph [15 cm x 21 cm] / [6" x 8"] on a plain black mount.

View of a parade on Boise's Main Street with the Falk Mercantile and the Idaho Dressed Beef Company buildings are visible in the background and numerous signs for the corresponding 'Midsummer Carnival' line the street. The Midsummer Carnival took place at the terminus of the parade route at Riverside Park.

"This will be a day of rest for the laborers of Boise, the one day in all the year they claim exclusively as their own. Business of all kinds will be suspended at 10 a.m. and the majority of the commercial houses will remain closed for the rest of the day, the others re-opening from 4 to 7 p.m. The postoffice, banks and all public offices with closed. Both the street parade and Labor Day exercises at Riverside park promise to be unusually attractive. The labor unions have made careful preparations for the day and will make a showing far superior to nay they have ever made in the past." - Idaho Statesman (9/07/1903)
