Rare Illustrated Account of the Execution of John D. Lee

1- [Lee, John D.] [Mountain Meadows Massacre] . Justice at Last: Execution of John D. Lee for Complicity in the Mountain Meadows Massacre. Supplement to Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper. New York: Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper, April 14, 1877. No. 1,124 - Vol. XLIV. [109]-112pp. Single sheet [40 cm x 54 cm]. Previously bound with stab holes at folds. Complete.

Rare supplement documenting the execution and last words of John D. Lee at Mountain Meadows, which occurred three weeks previous to this publication. With six illustration based on James Fennimore photographs: "Taken Expressly for this Paper, by Fennimore, Beaver City."

"He quietly seated himself on the coffin provided for his body and coolly looked at the small group of spectators. He was still very calm and resigned ....The handkerchief was next tied over his eyes, and as it was being done he asked the marshall not to tie his hands. This favor being granted, the doomed man clasped his hands over his head, bracing himself up tightly at the same moment, exclaiming : 'Let them shoot the balls through my heart. Don't let them mangle my body.' The marshall reassured him that the aim would be true, and then stepped back. As he did this he gave the requisite orders, 'Ready, aim, fire!'"

Rare Pioneer Centennial Serial View Book

2- [Mormon Pioneer Centennial]. Historical Photographs of Utah. [Salt Lake City]: Utah Oil Refining Co., 1947. First Edition. 27 leaves. Oblong quarto [23 cm x 31 cm] Brown grained spiral bound wrappers with the title gilt stamped on the front panel. 26 views with lengthy descriptions on the reverse.

These views were produced to commemorate the Mormon Pioneer centennial, and were only available individually from service stations and different views were issued weekly-ish, and had to be purchased and mounted in this album (on a bound in stub) individually over a period of weeks, and mounted in this specially produced album. The first leaf (Introduction and directions) and the second leaf (the Millroy & Hayes' 'Route of the Mormon Pioneers from Nauvoo to Great Salt Lake') are single sheets and not mounted on stubs.

Some diligent soul, acquired all 25 views and mounted them in order (according to the directions) in the album. Include images of historic buildings in Salt Lake, Logan, Ogden, Fillmore, Provo, St. George and Cove Fort.

"This 1947 series of historical views is presented with the compliments of the Utah Oil Refining Company. For a period of several weeks a different picture will be available at our stations and dealers throughout the state of Utah. Distribution is rotated weekly in each area so if you miss pictures in one locality, you make pick them up in nearby communities. So if you desire to collect a full set, call regularly at any Pep 88-Vico station in Utah during the period which the offer is made. We regret that mail requests cannot be filled. These historical views are available only at Pep 88-Vico stations and dealers handling Utah Oil Refining Company products in Utah." - p [2]

I am able to locate a single (complete) institutional copy (UU). Complete. Rare.

Dale Morgan Utah Trails Map

5- Morgan, Dale L. Utah Historical Trails Map: The Routes of Explorers, Early Wayfarers, and Immigrant Trails Depicted in Relation to the Modern Highway System of the States. Salt Lake City: Utah Department of Publicity & Industrial Development, 1948. Variant of first printing with Morgan's name printed correctly. Map [56 cm x 44 cm] Printed in black on white paper with the historical trails labeled and printed in red. One horizontal fold and one vertical fold as issued. Minor creasing at edges of center folds. Drawn by Fehmel. Introduction by Rulon S. Howells.

The verso contains a short introduction by Rulon S. Howell, and short individual descriptions of the various historical trails of Utah.

According to Saunders: "Though this was a publicity item Howells introduced it as a general trail guide, cautioning those who venture off-road to be well prepared. This map is actually not detailed enough to be much of a help to anyone intent on tracing the actual trails."

Clearly the basis for the Utah Centennial trails map (1996) that was prepared by several members of the Utah Westerners. This is one of my personal favorite Morgan items. Very cool. Saunders 73.
