Caleb Greenwood was a giant figure in the early West. From his early days along the Missouri River as a trapper until years later as an octogenarian he piloted the Ide Party over the Sierra Nevada in 1845, Greenwood was involved with many of the great happenings that shaped the Western history. This book deals with his early life in the fur trade, his important role in the overland emigration to California in 1844-1845, his subsequent contribution as one of the more important trailblazers and guides, his part in the relief of the Donner Party, and his activities along the American River after the discovery of gold at Sutter's Mill in 1848.

This edition has been so extensively revised that it can be considered a completely new book. Only paragraphs here and there survive from the original book. Illustrated throughout with a fold-out map at the rear. Prospectus from Fred Rosenstock laid in. Saunders 52

Morgan on GSL

According to Saunders: "Great Salt Lake dealt more with the historical context of the lake than the body of water itself, describing the epochal history of the lake itself, early exploration and mapping, the settlements of Salt Lake City, tourism and recreation, and the advent of railroads beside and across the lake. Besides his incomplete history of the Mormons, this work contains the only published example of Morgan's historical treatment of his religious culture." Saunders 19

Morgan on the Humboldt

23rd volume in the 'Rivers of America' series. According to Saunders: "Almost a collection of historical short story narratives, in this book Morgan displayed the literary capability gained from his youthful reading habits. It is as much a work of literature as of history. Human drama is the focus of the work, played against the backdrop of the river-with-no-mouth. The book was enormously successful, acknowledged as one of the best of the series." Saunders 16. Fitzgerald H26.
